Prologue

Angela Maria Quaquero

Councillor for Social Politics, Family and Immigration of the Province of Cagliari

The migration phenomenon has since years been the epicentre of the political debate, often with conflict tendencies; it touches on important topics as security, legality, citizenship, family and socio-economic integration. All topics concerning the civil society as a whole and requiring a careful analysis of the migration flows, with particular attention to the demographic characterization and to the gender value in the integration process.

Recent surveys carried on by the Social Politics Observatory of the Province of Cagliari and by ISTAT about the female element in foreign communities have highlighted a different reality compared to the common opinion: the education level of immigrant women is equal to, or sometimes even higher than the Italian women's, thus confirming a kind of migrants self-selection process.

Nevertheless, entering the world of work still remains extremely difficult and the job position covered is nearly never corresponding to the education level reached.

Nowadays immigrant women live multiple discriminations: as women, as foreigners and as mothers. The European Union itself asked the Member States for a particular attention to the politics of equal opportunities and to the adoption of concrete actions aiming at emancipation and socio-economic integration for immigrant women. Among the required interventions the support to the Italian language learning, to the rights and duties and to the national and European law.

The Provinces of Cagliari and Medio Campidano espoused the community objectives, considering them fully complying with the local needs, by adopting coherent social politics and promoting the activation of services networks, thus favouring the introduction to work and the access to the entrepreneurialism world for foreign women.

The Projob project strategically gets into such a program project, and through training interventions structured according to women real needs, is meant to reduce the gap between Italian and foreign women about the possibility of access to the world of work.

This Services Guide Migrant Women and citizenship completes the project path carried on by Projob. Well constructed, and also easily readable and consultable, the Guide offers detailed information on the services provided and on the national and local normative context in order to make the social introduction path easier. The issue deals with topics as welcoming, education and professional training, work, social services, health, culture, leisure.

Many partners gave their contribution to the project realization, among which the ASL of Cagliari, CGIL, CISL, UIL and the many voluntary associations I'm grateful to for their remarkable support in terms of competence and relations network.

I would also like to express my sincere sign of gratitude towards the operators of the Active Welcoming Centre and of the Observatory of the Social Politics of the Province of Cagliari, towards the operators of the Immigration and Emigration Services Network and of the Observatory on Migration Flows of the Province of Medio Campidano. My gratitude also to the operators of the Working Service Centres of the two Provinces for their dedication and their passion given in the realization of this project.

Finally, a particular thought dedicated to all women who left their own land with courage and determination to live and work among us and with us, bringing with them their culture, their knowledge and their experience, so precious for the whole community.

Simona Lobina

Councillor for Work Politics and Services, Immigration and Emigration and Equal Opportunities of the Province of Medio Campidano

In the last decades in Sardinia, and also in our Province, we have been experiencing a new phenomenon: the immigration from Countries poorer and culturally different from ours. The recent rebellions in North Africa and the current war in Lybia have given and still are giving an extraordinary impulse to migrations towards Europe and towards Italy, Sardinia included. Men, women and children that escape from wars, from dictatorships, from often needy life conditions, moving from their own country of origin in search of a better life, as our emigrants did in the sixties towards the Northern Italy.

People carrying different knowledge and values, who try to get integrated in our Country, often becoming the scapegoat of the political contradictions in our society. Political tensions, indeed, make the integration process harder for those wishing to integrate in our society, thus generating kinds of short-term immigration and high risks of social exclusion, and causing negative features both for the hosting societies and for the immigrants themselves.

In this scenario the Province of Medio Campidano – which records a most remarkable women presence compared to male's in the immigrant population – fulfilling its programs has been developing a strong commitment about Immigration and Emigration politics.

By the means of our services, among them the linguistic mediation, we want to guarantee to migrating citizens in need a support for better integration and instruments to manage to benefit from opportunities accessible on the territory.

One of those initiatives is about the Project "Projob – Employment Opportunities for foreign women" in partnership with the Provinces of Medio Campidano and Cagliari. Within this project, one of the intervention foreseen is constituted by this same Guide "Migrant Women and citizenship".

The Guide is meant for immigrant women and their families and is conceived as a basic information means on rights and opportunities. It is possible to find information on motherhood support, family re-union and children safeguard, health care and residence permit, education, culture, leisure and work.

I really wish the immigrate women, through this detailed Services Guide, can have all useful information to improve their life and work conditions and to facilitate, in perspective, an aware and active introduction to our reality and in the Sardinian society.

PRESENCE OF MIGRANT WOMEN IN THE PROVINCES OF CAGLIARI AND MEDIO CAMPIDANO

The migrant population in Sardinia consists of 33.301 people, between EU and extra community citizens. Women are 18.407.

The most part of them lives in the province of Cagliari (11.009), and only the city of Cagliari counts 4.857 units, followed by Quartu S. Elena (1.487, Capoterra (463) and Assemini (421). In the Medio Campidano Province the presence of foreigners is less remarkable (716), privileging the cities of Sanluri (101), Serramanna (100), San Gavino (86) and Guspini (73).

The following table highlights the first 10 provenance communities concerning the two Provinces.

(updated on January 1st, 2010)

Cagliari		Medio Campidano
Country of provenance	Foreign Women Resident	Country of provenance	Foreign Women Resident
Romania	904	Romania	121
Ukraine	817	Republic of China	60
Philippines	708	Morocco	34
Republic of China	483	Poland	19
Marocco	382	Ukraine	16
Germany	231	France	13
Poland	183	United Kingdom/Brasil/ Macedonia	8
Tunisia	138	Germany	7
France	123	Serbia/Cuba/Montenegro	6
Bosnia-Herzegovina	117	Albania/Russian Federation/Dominican Rep.	5

Source: data processing by Immigration Regional Observatory according to Demo Istat data.

The most considerable female group is that coming from Romania – in the first ten positions we find other EU Countries as Germany, Poland and France – however women coming from extra EU Countries are the most numerous (Ukraine, Philippine, Chinese and Moroccan), although with different spread throughout the two Provinces.

RECOGNITION OF SECONDARY SCHOOL COURSE CREDITS FOR FURTHERING YOUR STUDIES

If you already have a Secondary School Diploma, you can get the recognition of the Equipollence (Equivalent school level studies) by contacting the U.S.P. School Provincial Office.

The Equipollence is a complex type of academic recognition issued in autonomy by the Italian Universities, according to which a foreign secondary school title is analytically evaluated to verify whether the contents and the level reached can be considered equivalent to the Italian ones. In this case the same legal weight is attributed to the foreign title, thus being considered "Equipollent" (Recognition Rector's Decree).

Documentation required:

- a) original (or certified copy) of the Qualification, coming with the certified Italian translation of the conformity issued by the Italian Consulate of the Country where the Qualification has been accomplished, or under oath in front of the magistrate's court where the Qualification has been translated;
- b) declaration of Value, written in Italian, and issued by the Embassy or Italian Consulate of the Country where the Qualification has been accomplished. This declaration must contain the following information:
 1. the legal position of the State school (how the school is recognised by the Government)
 2. the type and level of the studies
 3. the years of school attended
 4. the kind of studies you can further with your qualification and the kind of job you can get
- c) A certified copy of your Residence Permit.

Note: The recognition of Equipollence is acknowledged to both EU and extra community citizens, the latter only if coming from Countries Italy established reciprocity agreements with.

RECOGNITION OF UNIVERSITY DEGREE TO FURTHER YOUR STUDIES

Generally, the recognition of the university degree can be requested:

- a) to apply for post-graduation courses;
- b) to apply for further university studies (master, research Ph. D.);
- c) to practice works requiring university degree.

The extra community citizens regularly living in Italy, the EU citizens and the political refugees can ask for the recognition of equipollence of the degree obtained abroad directly at the University. The necessary documents to be provided are:

- secondary school diploma;
- university Degree obtained (not all Universities accept the certified copy of the qualification);
- the declaration of Equipollence for both qualifications, issued by the Italian diplomatic representative in the Country where the qualification has been accomplished;
- the University syllabus (which indicates the subjects, the hours of course attended for each subject and the exams taken with relative marks);
- the programs of the exams taken (in force in the years you attended the courses).

When required, it is necessary to provide an official translation in Italian of the documents listed above and their consular legalization.

The request will be considered completed with the total recognition of your qualification (by the emission of the Rector's Decree as execution of the Academic Senatus deliberation) and the issue of the equivalent Italian academic degree; or with a partial recognition of the qualification and the possibility, according to the credits recognised and to the didactic regulations, to attend the Italian course corresponding to the level reached (abbreviation of the course).

To know how to obtain the recognition of your degree you can contact the Students Office of the University that activated a degree course as yours, or the CIMEA, Information Point on Mobility and Academic equivalences recognised by the Department of Education.

1. jobs requiring a university degree (i.e. lawyer, doctor, chemist, biologist, teacher, etc.). If you have a qualification to practice a profession in your Country, you can ask the competent Department for the recognition it, and you'll have to pass an aptitude test if required;
2. jobs not requiring a university degree (i.e. accountant, agronomist, industrial technician, etc.). In this case too, it is necessary to ask the competent Department for the recognition.

WORK

In Italy there are two types of employment: the dependent employment and the self-employment.

On one hand, examples of dependent employment are the Home working Contract (colfs, drivers, caregivers, cooks, waiters, etc.) and the Temporary Work (temporary job provided by an Employment Agency); on the other hand, self-employment stands for self business activity with use of own capital.

If you are a female foreign citizen regularly living in Italy, you can register yourself with the list of workers in the Job Centres.

The CSI, also called Job Service Centres (Centri Servizi per il Lavoro - CSL) in Sardinia, encourage the meeting between job demand and job request and offer information and orientation services for assistance and support with the bureaucratic papers.

To use this service it is necessary to apply providing the following documents:

- residence Permit;
- identity document: identity card or passport;
- national Insurance Number.

If you are an EU citizen, you only need to show your Identity document (ID card or Passport).

At the CSL you can consult the Job offers proposed by the Centres themselves, those published in the local and national papers and also by Temporary Work Private Agencies, also called “Interinali”. Besides proposing job opportunities, each Centre is provided with professional consultants who can help you advising about the job seeking, from the redaction of the Curriculum Vitae to the consultancy in case you want to create a self enterprise.

Record Book of family caregivers

For those looking for a job as a family caregiver, the Region created the public Record Book of family caregivers. The Record Book is unique for the whole Region, but it is articulated by local fields and founded in each Municipality – Social Services local Authority – sanitary district Headquarters or Unitary local Authority for Service management (PLUS).

The Record Book consists of a databank which contains name, address, phone number, education and professional qualification, job experience and any other useful information provided by the person concerned (i.e. preference on workplace and skills of the candidate, etc.)

It is a public Record Book, updated at least every 6 months and it can be consulted in the Offices of the Municipalities, Provinces, Health Offices and Job Centres.

To be registered on the Record Book it is necessary to fulfil the following requirements:

- being of age (18 years old);
- having a regular residence permit;
- sufficient knowledge of the Italian language;
- having not final judgement sentences and not pending proceedings;
- being strong in constitution, proved by a suitable working certificate;
- having successfully attended a theoretical-practical professional training course relative to the care giving field, lasting at least 200 hours, or being in possession of a professional qualification as healthcare workers.

Region Sardinia attends to the preliminary stage for the recognition of the healthcare qualifications accomplished in the extra community Countries by the applicants living in Sardinia. The Region will be also in charge of sending this documents to the competent Department for Work and of releasing the recognition decree for the well-documented nursing and technical profiles.

LAWS ABOUT EMPLOYMENT

The laws concerning the foreign citizens living in Sardinia are:

- The Regional Law n. 46/1990 "Regulation on safeguard of extra community workers life conditions in Sardinia", defines a series of means meant to guarantee equity of treatment and adequate conditions of life to the extra community citizens and to refugees or asylum seekers living in the island.

The Law created the Regional Consult for immigration as a means of comparison and dialogue about migrations matters. Within this Consult the six communities of extra community citizens are represented, together with Union and employers associations, safeguard associations, three experts in migration matters; the Consult is presided over by the Employment Regional Councillor.

Every year, according to the Law 46/1990 and through the Immigration Plan, the Provinces are provided with a fund meant to the realisation of interventions on behalf of the migrants living in the territory.

Also, every year an Application Announcement is called for innovative projects, offering funds for projects aimed at the integration of the foreign citizens, and for which the beneficiaries are no-profit Associations dealing with the migration field.

In order to put the law in practise and realise its finality, in 1992 the Regional Office for the Immigrants has been created, with front office tasks and assistance, cultural animation, study and research in the Employment Local Authority, professional training, cooperation and social security.

DRIVING LICENCE

Having a driving license could help you entering the world of work.

Conversion of a foreign Driving Licence

If you come from an EU Country, you can use your driving licence obtained in your Country of origin, without applying for the conversion or the recognition.

If you come from an extra community Country, you can use your driving licence obtained in your Country of origin up to 1 year after acquiring the right of residence in Italy.

During this period, to be entitled to drive in the Italian territory, your driving licence must come with an International Driving Permit or an official translation of your licence. The official translation is a certified document translated into another language, which maintains its legal value. The translator guarantees the truthfulness of the translated document, which thus gets the same legal value as the original. Courts recognise the official translations only if made by competent and qualified translators.

After 1 year it is necessary to convert your driving licence. This is possible if the Country which released the driving licence undersigned reciprocity agreements with Italy. Here the list of the Countries for which it is possible to obtain the driving licence conversion, updated to December 2009:

Algeria, Argentina, Austria, Belgium, Bulgaria, Cyprus, South Korea, Croatia, Denmark, El Salvador, Estonia, Philippines, Finland, France, Germany, Japan, Great Britain, Greece, Ireland, Island, Latvia, Lebanon, Liechtenstein, Lithuania, Luxembourg, Macedonia, Malta, Morocco, Moldova, Norway, Netherlands, Poland, Portugal, Monaco, Czech Republic, Slovakia, Romania, San Marino, Slovenia, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Taiwan, Tunisia, Turkey, Hungary, Uruguay.

The driving licence released in an extra community Country can be converted only if obtained before acquiring the right of residence in Italy. For conversions, recognitions or duplicates of the Romanian driving licence the historical certificate of residence is required.

Acquisition of driving licence in Italy

If you don't have a driving licence, or if the one obtained in your Country can not be converted, you can obtain it in Italy contacting a Driving School or the Transportation Department Off-Centre Office (ex Vehicle Licensing Office) of Cagliari.

At the ex Vehicle Licensing Office you can take an oral examination on the computer, reading or listening to questions in Italian only.

The law in force does not allow the registration at the SSN to those having the Residence Permit for tourism or healthcare.

Foreigners without residence permit

Foreigners without or with out of date residence permit are considered irregularly staying in the national territory. The law in force ensures health care of urgent and essential kind. This health care implicates the assignation, by the First Aid or Hospital centres, of the STP code (Foreigner Temporarily Present).

The Legislative Decree of July 25th, 1998 n. 286 (Law Turco – Napolitano) foresees that a foreign pregnant woman without residence permit, has the right of receiving medical cares throughout the pregnancy period and up to 6 months of the newborn's life. This kind of permit is released to all those women who hand in the medical certificate proving the pregnancy to the Policy Headquarters. Further to the pronunciation of the sentence by the Supreme Court of Appeal, this type of permit is also released in favour of the newborn's father, husband or common-law husband of the foreign woman.
